Thank you for choosing to give the gift of life this Christmas

On average, the air ambulance is needed twice a day to help a critically ill or injured patient. During the month of December, when most of us will be enjoying Christmas festivities with family and loved ones, the helicopter emergency medical service is expected to be called out over 60 times.

When needed, the team fly at an average of 180mph, direct to the patient. The doctor and paramedic on board, bring emergency care to the scene of the incident, delivering interventions that can be life-saving.

With your continued support, it's a service that is there, 365 days of the year, for every one of us.

It is not only the medical crew who save lives, but the people like you who support our service.

Your support helps people like Anna

A family day out moto-crossing to celebrate Anna's 11th birthday ended up in disaster with life-changing consequences for Anna. Her mum, Grace said, "It was Anna's 11th birthday, and we took her to a motocross track to celebrate. She was involved in an accident and thankfully the air ambulance team attended. The initial assessments were not at all positive. Anna had received a fractured skull, multiple bleeds on the brain, collapsed lung, detached retina and damage to her hearing as well as multiple fractures. She spent over 3 months in hospital. Without this lifesaving service, the outcome for Anna would have been very different.

The expertise, professionalism and compassion of the entire Air Ambulance NI Team is outstanding, they hold a very special place in our hearts".
